

Height above ground separates the classes, and is never fed to the network

